

Agenda of the II International Scientific and Practical Conference

«Improving the quality of life of cancer patients through the development of cooperation between state, commercial and non-profit organizations»

Minsk, hotel «Europa» (International str. 28), conference hall (7th Floor)

Objectives:

- get closure to good cooperation practices improving the quality of life of cancer patients
- approaches to oncological psycho-therapy and to psycho-oncological activities on examples of activity of experts in Denmark, Poland, Russia, Belarus, Lithuania, Georgia, Latvia;
- identify perspective directions for cross-border cooperation.

January 23, 2018
9.00 - 9.45	Registration of participants
9.45 - 10.00	Opening of the conference Iryna Zhykhar, head of Social and educational institution «Center support of cancer patients «In the Name of Life» Dr Giedre Bulotiene, MD, PhD, Psychiatrist psychotherapist, National Cancer Institute President of the Association of Psychosocial Oncology (2007-2017) Lithuania Lene Frydensberg Petersen, teamleader and project manager for EC support programme for Belarus of the NGO “European House”
10.00 – 10.40	Multidisciplinary care is essential in the recovery of the oncological patient during and after treatment	Jette Vibe-Petersen, MD, director of Copenhagen Center for Cancer and Health
10.40 – 11.20	Research on consequences of cancer and its treatment on quality of life, symptoms and psychosocial issues	Susanne Oksbjerg Dalton, Group Head, consultant, Danish Cancer Society Research Center, Danish Cancer Society, Copenhagen
11.20 – 11.50	Coffee break
11.50 – 12.30	Danish Cancer Society aims to unite the Danish population in a strong, active effort against cancer	Lene Frydensberg Petersen, teamleader and project manager for EC support programme for Belarus of the NGO “European House”
12.30 – 13.00	General discussions
13.00 - 14.00	Lunch
14.00 - 17.00	Work in thematic sections, discussion of actual tasks that can be solved by the cooperation of various stakeholders.	Section 1. Psychological and social care. Section 2. Medical rehabilitation. Section 3. Promotion of cancer topics in the society (media and PR).
17.00 - 18.00	Plenary session. Brief reports of the groups, summarizing the results of the day.
18.00 - 20.00	Dinner
January 24, 2018
9.00 – 9.30	Registration of participants
9.30 – 10.00	Results of the 1st day of the conference. Definition of the tasks for the 2nd day.
10.00 – 11.00	Situation analysis of psychotherapy and psychology in oncological institutions of Belarus and Lithuania. Questions and answers.	Ekaterina Averkova, psychiatrist-psychotherapist, head of psychological service of Republican Scientific and Practical Center of Oncology and Medical Radiology of N.N. Aleksandrov, Belarus; Gertruda Klimaviciute, psychologist of National Oncology Institute, Lithuania
11.00 – 11.30	The importance of psychosocial rehabilitation for	Kitija Janele, Board Member and Head of cancer patients and their relatives Formation and development of the program of psychosocial rehabilitation in Latvia.	the Psychosocial Rehabilitation Program of the NGO "Tree of Life" (Latvia) Alise Musijenko, manager of Psychosocial Rehabilitation Program of the NGO "Tree of Life" (Latvia)

11.30 – 11.45	Problems and perspectives of development of psycho-oncology in Georgia and in the Eastern European region	Ekaterine Sanikidze, Director at Tbilisi Cancer Center, Georgian Patients' Union Adviser
11.45 – 12.15	Discussion with speakers.
12.15 - 12.45	Coffee break
12.45 - 14.30	Expert panel
	25 years of Psycho-Oncology in Poland: past, present and future	Marzena Samardakiewicz, Assistant Professor; Clinical Psychologist; 1. Department of Applied Psychology; 2. Department of Pediatric Hematology, Oncology and Transplantology, Medical University of Lublin, Poland; President of The Polish Psycho-Oncology Society (PPOS).
	The role of the psychogenic factor in the development of malignant tumours.	Oleg Buchtoyarov m.d., Chief Physician and Head of the Laboratory of Psychoimmunology of the Medical Center 39 (Kaliningrad, Russia), member of the Russian Scientific Society of Immunologists, member of the Editorial Board of the American Journal of International Journal of Clinical Oncology and Cancer Research
	Discussion with speakers.
14.30 - 15.30	Lunch
15.30 – 17.00	Panel discussion "The process of transition to a new qualitative level of development of psycho-oncology. Cooperation of involved parties within the country and cross-border cooperation strategy"
17.00 - 18.00	Summarizing the conference.
January 25, 2018
Round table "The conditions of development of the volunteering"
10.00 - 11.00	Registration of participants
11.00 - 11.30	Opening of the round table
11.30 - 12.00	Volunteering in Belarus: socio-cultural and organizational specifics (based on the research).	Oksana Shelest, candidate of sociological sciences, senior analyst at the Center for European Transformation.
12.00 - 12.15	Questions and answers.
12.15 - 12.45	Regulation of volunteer activities: the necessity, scope, boundaries.	Volga Smalyanka, director of an educational institution "Lawtrend"
12.45 - 13.00	Questions and answers.
13.00 - 14.00	Lunch
14.00 - 15.00	General discussion "The current state and perspectives of development of volunteering in Belarus: social and legal aspects."
15.00 - 15.30	Summarizing the results of the round table.

During the conference, an exhibition of sketch designs for different premises of the "Vitebsk Regional Clinical Oncology Dispensary" day care centre interiors will be held.

The designs are created by students of the 5th year of the Belarusian National Technical University Architecture Faculty. Supervisors: Natalja Lazouskaya, Head of Residential and Public Buildings Architecture Department and Alexandra Mazanik, Associate Professor of Architectural Environment Design Department.